

Principles and Practices of Parenting with Nonviolence: A Compassionate Guide to Caring for Younger Human Beings

Table of Contents

Preface: Note to Parent Educator: An Orientation

Class 1: Intentional Parenting

Class guidelines and series overview; introduction to the philosophy of nonviolence; the prevalence of childism and why we need to raise children with nonviolence; what is intentional parenting; raising children as an act of social justice.

Class 2: Changing the Paradigm by Parenting with Nonviolence

Shifting from the dominant paradigm to a paradigm of nonviolence; the importance of needs and feelings; connecting communication.

Class 3: Reflecting on Our Childhood Experiences

The importance of creating a coherent narrative and its challenges; ACEs; Empathy books.

Class 4: Growing Your Child's Brain

Benefits to understanding brain development; the interbrain and the influence of primary caregivers on brain development; the triune brain; neuroplasticity and rewiring the brain.

Class 5: A Younger Human Being Grows

What child development looks like in the dominant paradigm; child growth from a perspective of nonviolence; expectations about milestones, gender, cultural values.

Class 6: Getting Into the Zone, Why Self-regulation Matters, Part I

Parents and caregivers as models of self-regulation; the levels and impact of stress, from everyday to toxic; the roots of dysregulation and what sets us off; self-regulation begins with a pause; self-regulation backpacks.

Class 7: Getting into the Zone, Why Self-regulation Matters, Part II

Self-regulation is the paradigm shift in action; the pause is the shift; introduction to P-O-W-E-R; helping children self-regulate; self-care and daily practice.

Class 8: Feelings, Feelings and More Feelings!

Emotional Intelligence; more on feelings and needs; parent as emotional coach; translating evaluative words; the O-W-E of P-O-W-E-R — observation, wonder and empathy;

Class 9: P-O-W-E-R with Anger, Understanding Anger Through Nonviolence

Understanding anger in the dominant paradigm; understanding anger through nonviolence; what happens when adults and children are angry; anger with our children; making the shift, the “R” of P-O-W-E-R — reflection and restoring connection.

Class 10: P-O-W-E-R with Limits, the Practice of Supportive Guidance

Exploration of rules — in our own childhoods and in the dominant paradigm; understanding the need for limits; shifting from rules to supportive guidance, P-O-W-E-R with limits; another “R” of P-O-W-E-R, resolution.

Class 11: P-O-W-E-R with Practice, Practice, Practice

Review and practice of P-O-W-E-R

Class 12: Celebrating Community and Saying Good-bye

Series review; big picture of social justice; celebrations and mourning; finding community and support.